THE VALUE OF THIS REPORT

HOW TO RECEIVE & HONOR THE VALUE

This PDF is open for anyone to download at CosmoMuse.com

Although it is free to download, I do want the value of it to be felt. I've learned that when things come free, they don't impact us much and we don't get the value that it may have contributed to our lives. We have to honor things that bring us worth. Below are three options that are easy and quick.

1) I already know I love what you do and want to value this document as I receive it. I know I'll use it religiously.

We love you back!! Please Venmo @cosmomuse or PayPal allie@cosmomuse.com between $6-12 in accordance with your budget and how much you think you'll use this.

2) I'm interested. I have intentions to use this but I need to see how it goes.

This is great. Give this a whirl. If it works for you, send a dollar or two each time it makes a difference in your life

Venmo @cosmomuse or PayPal allie@cosmomuse.com

If it doesn't end up working for you, tell a friend who you think will adore it. No sweat lost on either side.

3) I'm just curious. I don't really get this, or I know I won't use it well.

I welcome this. I love the beginners and curious onlookers. Welcome.
Please enjoy this free as something that sparks a small curiosity.

WELCOME

Do you crave a different connection to time? A more natural and sustainable rhythm to your life? At CosmoMuse, Mystically in Season is the motto and I love the depth and relationship to lifestyle that our lens with astrology has gifted.

This report is what I would label the cliff notes to 2019's Seasonal Astrology. It's broken down into three sections that help bring awareness to the very subtle longer-term cycles that this year is being influenced by (cosmic tone), the universal rhythms that the seasons helps us align with (collective tone), and our more personal ebb and flow of energy broken down by sign (personal tone). A lens is given to each sign's ruling planet, planets visiting their sign, and how the sun and moon's rhythms create opportunity to balance and harmonize our lives, unique to each sign. Enjoy!

XO,

COSMIC SECTION

This is the shortest yet most complex section. Don't feel the need to fully grasp what's presented here, but do print out the 2019 biorhythm chart and watch it throughout the year. Due to the moon's orbital tilt and how it slowly shifts each year, subtlety can be utilized.

COLLECTIVE SECTION

This section follows the Northern Hemisphere's seasons through the unique light that both the sun and moon's rhythms bring each month. At the start of each month, print out the biorhythm chart and note how it aligns for you. Use the weekly summaries for added context.

PERSONAL SECTION

Find the section for both your sun and rising sign. Read up about how your personal planet is focusing you through the 4 seasons. Revisit this often as well as print out your personal monthly solar-lunar pages to see how you are being asked to reach in the light and grow in your depths.

COSMIC • TONE

This winter is abnormally peaceful and mild.

This section shows the subtle shifts we feel in a typical season. It's very much so a background tone. You have to observe, pay attention, and distill the things that make this season distinct from the same one of prior years.

SOLI - LUNAR LIVING

Just as the sun goes through times of being aligned, above, and below our equator (creating our four seasons), the moon has an orbit that shifts from being aligned, above, and below the ecliptic (the sun's apparent path around the earth). But, oppositely, the sun's apparent movement follows the same path each year while the moon's orbital tilt shifts alignment of its high, low, and crossing of the ecliptic by 30 degrees (or one sign of the zodiac) every 18-months. The two points where the moon crosses the ecliptic are called the north and south nodes, determining the timing of our 4 to 5 yearly eclipses. Just as the four seasonal solar markers of high, low, and aligned to the equator mark certain themes of daylight and temperature, the moon's four markers show the emotional 19-year progression that each sign is going through—so where we are experiencing endings & new beginnings, fertile and maturing growth, having to become more sharing and compromising, and where we are solidifying with the pressures through outer world responsibility.

Soli-Lunar Flow of 2019

Energetics of 2019

This is a different view of the previous chart showing the vital (solar) and emotional (lunar) flow of the year. We always feel new energy in spring, maturing and fruitfulness in summer, refection and sharing in autumn, and greater exhaustion in winter. But from year to year there are variations that bring greater or lesser energy and a fluctuating quality of mood to these phases—which is what the lunar patterns can show.

This chart indicates that winter will start out with balance and a reflective quality of sharing and equalizing, but a growing in tensity will occur as we move further into our season of release. As we reach spring, a lot of pressure is upon us that will likely bring greater stress than usual. Just as we reach summer solstice a feeling of exhaustion, yet softening, will be felt. We finally turn a corner with mood lightening up after July 9th, giving way to a summer of new beginnings. As we reach autumn equinox, energy is greater than normal as we feel a lot of connection. Pushing into mid and late autumn we will find a more fruitful growth in our lives. As we end 2019, we may feel our greatest sense of rhythm and purpose.

COLLECTIVE · TONE

Spring is almost here. I can feel the energy rising.

This section show the seasonal vibration that is known to us and that we can easily notice, but may not think about everyday. It's spring for several months so we relax into its pace. It's in the background, and we have an awareness of it as it has a similar effect on the collective mood.

PHASES OF THE MOON

8 PHASES

Aside from the slowly evolving tilt of the moon's orbit that gives a bigger picture understanding of the year's ebb and flow, we also have the monthly lunar cycle that is felt more directly. In this next section we take a by-month look at how the moon phases are stacked up against the sun's seasonal energies.

If you have one of our Seasonal Astrology Guides, you may find that my perspective on the lunar phases has shifted. I've been observing and testing and feel a lot more resonance with the Pagan belief that the New Moon is aligned with the tone of Capricorn energy (as opposed to my previous alignment with Aries energy). Just as the sun reaches the Tropic of Capricorn (Winter Solstice/Capricorn Season), shifting us from the Northern Hemisphere's longest night toward days slowly growing in strength, similarly a new day starts at midnight when we are fully turned from the sun, beginning our journey back toward light. The same feels true of the New Moon being in its darkest phase, ready to slowly gain more light.

My experiences in testing a few versions of lunar phase theories has led me to feel very connected to the one I introduce in the following pages.

THE 29.5 DAY LUNAR CYCLE

(new moon to new moon)

NEW MOON

In the cool darkness, the sun and moon are in alignment, making it a strong time for intention setting and planting seeds.

BALSAMIC MOON

Darkening mood leads to the depth of our inner selves. We crave to share what we see in our mysteries in order to find control and visionary perspective.

LAST QUARTER MOON

As yin energy begins to overtake emotion, we find balance by both turning inward & recognizing what we have to exchange in the outer world. This gives us refined elegance and survival skills.

WANING GIBBOUS

Dark yin energy begins to creep back in, triggering us to mature and find personal style and purpose while we still have strong yang energy to give us emotional vitality.

FULL MOON

Our emotions are at their strongest, fully reflecting the sun's yang energy. We feel growth and fertility, seeking security OR recognizing that something no longer has enough chi to move forward.

WAXING GIBBOUS MOON

A sureness of Self brings more pleasure, connection, and movement.

FIRST QUARTER MOON

Growing light helps us to find greater personal assertion and clarity.

CRESCENT MOON

Integration of detached observation helps us to break down old barriers and surrender baggage as we feel more tired.

JANUARY 2019

Energetic Flow of January

- 1st - 4th: Share your ideas and visions with the world to bring a more well-rounded perspective to your beliefs and hopes. Nurture yourself a little more as the light of the moon wanes and nights are dark and long. Chose a guiding star.
- 5th - 12th: There's no better time to make New Year's Resolutions with the sun and moon aligning in our achievement oriented sign. This eclipse will push us to compromise more in our exchanges of authority and responsibility in the world. Harmonize. Relax and detach into lower energy levels but be aware of greater intuition and inspiration as you let go of old baggage.
- 14th - 19th: Feel into a growing energy and sense of Self. Get clear about what you want and be brave in taking some steps. As the light of the moon begins to increase, this is your week to get a lot done. Identify your authority.
- 20th - 26th: Just as Aquarius Season starts, we also dive into eclipse season with endings and beginnings around our presence and creative command. During a full moon week we are faced with a need to mature and attend to adulthood.
- 27th - 31st: Relationships and sharing become prominent as we start to consider others, finding trust and depth in our relationships. Outer world questions of integrity and alignment will come up.

FEBRUARY 2019

- 25th - 31st: There's no better time to make focused and dedicated intentions around aspirations and position with the sun and moon aligning in respected Capricorn. This is a solar eclipse that will ask us to step further into the world yet compromise more. Relax into lower energy levels as intuition and inspiration feel heightened & healing.

PERSONAL • TONE

I am so energetic and productive this month. The sun is feeding my creativity and I feel alive.

This section shows the day-to-day ebbs and flows that the different signs may experience. It takes into consideration how the seasons affect us based on where in our chart focus is highlighted. We are very aware of this energy, but we don't necessarily share it in common with those around us.

*READ FOR BOTH SUN AND RISING SIGNS

LIVING ORGANICALLY WITH THE SEASONS OF ASTROLOGY

CHRONOS & KAIROS

We predominantly live by chronological and linear time, Chronos, these days. But by not balancing more cyclical and opportune timing that living in-tune with the rhythms of the cosmic bodies offers, we pile on stress and hit our heads against blocks and bad timing. Seasonal Astrology can help us balance the two, with a connection to Kairos timing.

THE PLANETS AS RULERS AND TIMERS

Each sign is ruled by a planet (sometimes two). By watching the movements of these cosmic bodies, we can get in a rhythm with the things we are meant to be focusing on and developing in our lifetime. I always watch both my sun sign planetary ruler (I'm a Virgo so Mercury holds the keys to my vital strings) and rising sign ruler (I'm a Sagittarius rising so Jupiter's movements hold the keys to the development and rhythms of my assertion, identity, and passions).

SOLAR-LUNAR SEEDING & BLOSSOMING AS A WAY TO STAY BALANCED

Every month we get a chance to bring more solidified and responsible energy to one part of our chart (where the new moon falls), while another part of our chart gets to nurture itself and seek security and depth (where the full moon falls). The first and last quarter moons of a month help to bring balance but these two soli-lunar alignments are where we are tightening and the spokes of our life, like a wheel, and are what allow us to give attention to all of the areas we need in order to tune into the cycles of our nature.

SEED ENERGY • NEW MOON

Where the sun and moon align to make a new moon each solar season (30 days), there is a certain spotlight on a part of our charts demanding that we stand tall against pressures of the world and uphold integrity. This is akin to the highest reaching branches of a tree and is when we are put under pressure around achievements over the past year, as well as find new heights that we aspire to reach over the next year.

WINTER ENERGY

BLOSSOMING ENERGY • FULL MOON

This tells where roots underground are ripe for feeding, allowing the life just above ground to also benefit. We need to tap into intuition in this dark place, but there is fertility, depth, and richness. It is subtle, but we feel it in profound ways at the full moon of each solar season, when the sun and moon are in opposition. This is 6-months from the new moon of the same full moon sign. This can also show where something just won't grow (newly or any further) and we need to let go.

SUMMER ENERGY

THE RAM

1ST SIGN | FIRE | CARDINAL (initiator)
EARLY SPRING ENERGY

You dive head first into everything you do bringing much illuminated clarity, similar to a sunrise and a young babe who knows exactly what they want and when they want it. You teach us all about the importance of having personal passion, boundaries, and being centered in Self where great self-trust is formed.

2019 SEASONAL OVERVIEW

Summary: The above chart shows how your personal planet, Mars, is moving and affecting you through 2019. The best news is that he will be retrograde-free. The second best news is that compared to last year, you will have a lot of time for personal passions and growth. Last year, your ruler was moving through end of autumn and winter signs, creating a lot of intensity, outer world pressures, and near the end, complete exhaustion. This may have allowed you to let go of some baggage, bringing needed healing and preparation for a new slate. This year, until mid-autumn, it's all about you! Just how you like it ;)

Winter: Hallelujah! Mars moves into your home sign of Aries on New Year's Eve night, igniting a new 2-year cycle. You will feel this prominently at some point before February 14th (depending on your sun or rising sign's degree). Pay attention to personal passions that surface as they will be the seeds of your next couple year journey. On February 12th, your ruler meets up with Uranus, rebel planet, for a surprise of sorts, just as he's ready to leave a 7-year tour of your sign. Friends as well as erratic happenings have played prominently in your life since 2011 with this collaborative planet having been centered in your sign. This date may show you how big of a deal that's been. On February 15th you will feel Mars' move into Taurus and your 2nd house. This will get you in touch with your 5 earthy senses and help you to refresh how you find value, self-worth, and income, as well as how you care for possessions and enjoy the simple pleasures of life. It's a great time to ground, slow down, and see what you truly honor.

Spring: On March 31st, your planetary ruler, Mars, will move into the agile and intellectual sign of Gemini. This will get you moving, mingling, connecting, communicating, and making things happen. This house in your chart is made for helping to solve inner paradoxes, finding greater inner and outer belonging. As we awaken with greater energy during the first shoots of green and eggs hatching, your personal solar season will be one filled with blossoming beauty. Adding spice to the mix, Mercury, planet of the mind and connection will move into your sign on April 17th through to May 6th. This will add physical movement and ideas to rev your motor into hyper drive. A very youthful feeling could have you tackling a lot of things that you've pushed to the back burner as well as dreaming up new things that energize your spirit. On April 20th until May 15th, Venus joins Mercury in your sign, boosting self-confidence, love, creating a lovely opening for you to update your look and personal glow, should you like. New beauty products, clothes, and hair changes could have you feeling polished and adored. On May 5th an opposition to Jupiter will have you curious about what's outside of your perspective. Perspective from someone or something you're unfamiliar with could push you to broaden your ideals and truths. Come May 16th after both Mercury and Venus move on, having finished reviving your mind and heart, Mars will also shift into a new section of your chart. In Cancer through the rest of spring, you may become a bit more vulnerable as you seek greater security in home, family, and the roots of your life that sustain you. Imagination, intuition, and soulful emotions will start to push you into a phase of wanting to mature and sustain some things that you've been busy dreaming up earlier in the year. Lose yourself in daydream, spruce up your home, tend to some self-care so that you can also nurture those you consider family, and feel the strength that all of these things give to your life. On June 12th as your ruler crosses over the North Node, pay attention to themes that come up. There will be an eclipse here one month later that will create some big new beginning around themes of security, home, and family. The days surrounding June 18th hold a lot of energy for you. A meet-up between your ruler and Mercury in Cancer ignites a lot of movement and questions around security and comfort in your life. At the same time Saturn and Pluto will be in opposition from Capricorn. There could be people or circumstances in your life that are placing pressure on your sense of stability. How is your position in the world blocked or hidden, needing some uprooting in order to confront things that need to evolve?

Summer: More fun is in store as July rolls around. Mars will shine brightly in the sign of Leo, putting you into the spotlight. This will be a month to play, love, and lead. Find your backbone, stand strong as all eyes will gaze your way. In Leo, you can find your stylized presence, your creative flair, and your way of being warm and generous with those in your sphere. Others will be drawn to you due to your warmth and generosity, and kids could become a greater part of you life. On August 18th a move into Virgo will see you in the final phase of the self-focused area of the zodiac. An emphasis will be placed on getting your daily rhythms honed in order to find your sense of wholeness. Work and wellness processes will feel important helping you to create purpose in your life. It's through the small daily weaving that you tend to where, over time, you create great systems and purpose in your life. Find beauty in this rather than getting caught up in the details and criticisms as you refine your life. On September 1st, the sun will meet up with Mars, once again placing you in the spotlight for a day or two. Your purpose and lifestyle could feel important or of interest to those around you at this time. What are you doing that is making you feel good and well that you can share with those interested?

Autumn: October 4th through November 18th, Mars will traverse your polar sign of Libra, asking that you compromise, consider, and trust others. It will be a time of finding greater balance and harmony in your relationships and experiencing the elegance that this can bring your way. Between November 19th and the end of the year, a move to Scorpio could bring up some intensity and entanglements that need you to uproot and face some blocks to your empowerment. Sharing and merging your resources will have you learning more about your sense of control and power.

2019 SEASONAL OVERVIEW

Summary: The above chart shows how your personal planet, Venus, is moving and affecting you through 2019. The most poignant news is that she will be retrograde-free. Not shown in the chart is another rhythm that Venus makes as either a morning or evening star which will affect your general tone. Starting out in 2019, Venus will be seen in the skies as a morning star, or Lucifer (light bearer). In this phase through to mid-June when she disappears into the sun's brightness, this makes you more youthful and expressive of your emotions and sensuality. After Venus disappears, making a superior conjunction to the sun on August 14th in Leo, she will reappear several weeks later, in early October, as the evening star, or Hesperus. This will make you feel more mature, in control of your emotions and values, focusing them inward rather than letting them rush out of you unfiltered. Use the first half of the year to be more free and expressive, the third quarter (summer) to find balance between self and other, and the last quarter of the year to find depth in your values and emotional goals. Generate elegant exchange through sharing and allow vulnerability to rise to your surface. This will help you to embrace the broader exposure coming your way in autumn as well as to loosen your grip for greater compromise and harmonizing.

Winter: During the winter months, Venus, your planetary ruler, will be moving through the signs of Scorpio, Sagittarius, Capricorn, and Aquarius. These are autumn and winter signs that indicate a need to share and be civilized amidst outside similarities and differences. Also traveling through your 7th - 10th houses, similar themes of sharing and being responsible will feel prominent—even though the morning star phase will want you to be a bit more free and easy in your expression. You will need to find a balance between being impulsive and creative while also mature and considerate due to the kinds of scenarios that will likely arise. March will put some pressure on you with career responsibilities and potential recognition coming your way. It's likely that this area of your life has undergone quite a bit of change and pressure over the past two years. Depending on the degree of your Taurus sun or rising sign, this could still feel pressurized for another year. If you are a late degree Taurus, things will start to ease up as you relax into owning your authority.

Spring: Between Spring Equinox and May 15th, you will likely feel more tired than usual as Venus passes through your ending 11th and 12th houses. This is a great time, especially in April and early May, to let go of old patterns and feelings. Open to complexity. This will allow you to feel exhausted, which is where surrender happens and magic appears in our lives. Being in the end of the morning star phase during this time, you may also feel a need to find some creative and playful outlets. Work on balance by weaving rhythms of extra sleep and gentleness while also allowing fun to enter the picture when you're up for it. May 15th will mark your personal New Year as your ruler, Venus (who takes 225 days to orbit the sun), will return home to your sign of Taurus. Between this date and June 19th (when Venus disappears from our view) will be your most lively and fun period of the year. The sun and your ruler will transit your sign, and will also move through witty and connective Gemini, while Venus is still light-hearted as the morning star.

Summer: Days before Summer Solstice, Venus will disappear from our view as she is too closely aligned with the sun. She will conjunct our golden star on August 14th, and then several weeks later, just after Autumn Equinox, reappear as a more matured and Queenly evening star. During this quarter, it's a great time for you to integrate things about your inner and outer self—your external motivations and internal values. Early summer will allow you time to generate ideas, connection, and learning. By August you'll be concerned with finding depth and maturity in your life. Security and family will feel important through most of this month. On August 21st Venus will move into your 5th house and the sign of Virgo, igniting a time of feeling confident and strong in your personal expression, possibly finding moments when the spotlight and adoration warm your heart. Your creative and leadership style of organizing and systematizing will be noticed and appreciated.

Autumn: Autumn Equinox sees Venus in the sign of Libra and your 6th house of work and wellness. It's likely that you will have a busy schedule as you find elegant balance in your daily rhythms. You are at peak performance when your days are filled with peaceful and harmonious processes and routines. You may not be our zodiac's work horse but you can produce some of our most beautiful processes. Come October 10th, Venus will reappear as the evening star and you will begin to feel a certain tone of restraint and control in demeanor. Venus will have just moved into your 7th house and Scorpio, making relationships a focus. You may see recurring themes from the winter season as Venus traverses the same signs as it did earlier in the year. This time around, aligned as the evening star, you will be able to revisit these occurrences with more internal centering and wisdom. The autumn themes of sharing, relating, getting more intimate, and dealing with power and perspective is much more aligned to the tone of Venus in the evening star phase. The last ten days of December, as we reunite with Winter, career will likely be a big theme as Venus moves into Aquarius and your 10th house of recognition and accomplishment. Think back to what you may have started at the end of last winter. Have your reached goals made at that time? Whatever the answer, this is a period when you can refresh your aspirations and set your sights on new peaks to climb.

Summary: The above chart shows how your personal planet, Mercury, is moving and affecting you through 2019. Take note of the three retrograde periods as these will mark the times of year as well as areas of your life that need a slower reflective pace. Not shown in the chart is another rhythm that Mercury makes as either a morning or evening star, only seen for a couple of days around six times each year. Your planet is an elusive speedster, hard to pin down, lapping our own orbit around the sun by 3x (although from our perspective it seems to only orbit around just over one time—the little trickster with the inside track). Starting out in 2019, Mercury will be in transition from a morning star to an evening star as it makes a superior conjunction to the sun (opposite side of sun from us) on January 29th. On February 26/27, you will be able to see your planet just after dusk, above the horizon line. This is Mercury's Old Man phase, a guide for others to another world of inner landscapes and depth. On March 14th an inferior conjunction with the sun will be made (Mercury between earth and the sun), starting the transition of Mercury as the morning star, or the little boy, running ahead to chase butterflies and create new opportunities and paths to follow. Head out before dawn on April 11th and look to the east before sunrise to see Mercury as the morning star. This pattern will repeat twice more over the year. Each time Mercury conjuncts the sun (3 superior and 3 inferior), the transition phase starts where you'll feel yourself beginning to open to youthful new opportunities at the crossroads of life or like a guide, ferrying others to the other side of consciousness. You've already been there so you know how to guide the way.

Winter: In Capricorn for a good chunk of January, your ruler will have you eagerly and lightheartedly gathering all of the things that bring your life the kind of structure that helps you build. Precision and sharing your worth will bring up a few tense moments that will ultimately help you to gain clarity around your value and the value of those close to you—and how to be in exchange. New paths will be found and you'll push past the intensity of this with a cool breeze. On the morning of January 24th, you'll wake to a new tone with your ruler in Aquarius. A bit anarchist, but also humanitarian, this 9th house placement will have you looking at the horizons of your life and questioning the boundaries you've been told are there. You may feel a need to not only breakdown the comfort zones of your own life, but also the horizons that humanity seems to think are holding the world back. On the 29th as you meet up with the sun, you begin to mature into your 'Wise Old Man' persona, seeing your role as a messenger to help move others along their paths rather than the gatherer and playful side that your morning star role brings out. February 10th will move your planet along to your artistic and dreamy Piscean aspirations. In the evening start role, this will have you in connection with others in mature and deep ways to help push cosmic messages forward. Your first retrograde of the year starts on March 5th in the authority location of your chart. A review of your career aims may need to take place. Revisit, rethink, realign. On the 14th, an inferior conjunction between Mercury and the sun will begin your transition toward the young boy, the gatherer version of yourself.

Spring: The first days of spring will have you the ending your Pisces retrograde period. Once direct on March 28th, you'll see with more clarity, aspirational directions that feel aligned. At the end of winter, you were focused on being a messenger. This time around as you retrace some steps, you'll be in gathering and opportunity generating mode. In the self-focused sing of Aries and your 11th house of groups and friendships, you'll find greater freedom to play and rebel from April 17 - May 6. It's a time for making decisions that will propell you toward exciting paths of being a pioneer for groups, movements, and collaborations. Find your innovative, individualized, and unconventional ways of being authentic. May 7 - 20 will be for finding grounding and sensuality through letting go, surrender, and art. Mercury will be traveling through Taurus and your 12th house, the last stop of your tour of the zodiac (since last spring). May 21st not only brings you to your own personal spring as Mercury moves to Gemini, but you'll again meet up with the sun and begin transitioning to your messenger/wise guide self. Oh, all the different personas you wear, Gemini. I'm sure it's not easy as it certainly makes the rest of us both dizzy and in awe ;) You'll be in a full sprint and will only have until June 4th to enjoy feeling centered in Self and new personal passions & agendas for the year. The seeds created here will be under the wise messenger evening star guise, yet focused on your own agenda. Some of your greatest desires may come through wanting to be personally identified as a guide for others into the depths of Self this year. Do this for yourself first so you can be grounded in and sure of your messages. June 5th through the end of spring, a tour through Cancer's terrain will bring up issues of self-worth and how you value yourself, thus how you bring value and material pleasure into your life. Use your soulful nurturing, your connection to women, family, home, and intuition. Connect into how the tides of the moon and a need for security are channeled into how you possess and give form to things tangible in your life. Slow your pace to smell the roses, igniting your senses and finding pleasure in the earth's cycles.

Summer: Less than a week into summer, on June 27th, Mercury will push into the creative and vital sign of Leo in your favorite 3rd house of connection, community, and communication. This is a light time in your wise guide role. Enjoy this time up until July 7th when retrograde season hits once again. During the retrograde, through August 1st, you are meant to rethink and reflect on how you connect using your heart and your creative spirit. This placement also holds stereotypical retrograde themes of delays, mixed or missed messages, and technology and transportation breakdowns. Be aware of this energy, but accept that detours or delays might be redirecting you or showing you things that need to be fixed. During this retrograde, a solar meet-up will happen again on July 21st. This will start your transition from the wise old man into the young boy, eager to play. From July 20th through August 1st your review and rewind will take a step back into Cancer and your second house. Your self-worth may take a little hit as some reflection leads you to new insights that need you to take different steps. Walking forward again between August 1st and the 10th, you'll have your chance for a do over around how to value the soulful side of yourself, finding new ways of generating security in your life through gathering and moving through your youthful side. Once back in Leo on the 11th, fun will really ramp up. Your heart will be a flutter, busy being curious and enthralled by all things on your path. Choices will feel easy (as long as your heart is leading) and connections being made will allow you to feel loving belonging and openings to flash your written or spoken way with words. August 29th as Mercury shifts into analytical Virgo, and the only sign equal in wit (also being ruled by Mercury), your need for privacy will come on strong. This place in your chart, your 4th house, is the root system that needs nurturing and intuitive trust. It's time to focus on finding a sense of protected security, domestic bliss, and connection to family. Virgo can be nit picky and critical, but at its core, it wants holistic systems—which hold a lot of room for imperfection. Remember this as you busy yourself to make your roots well and efficient. Nurture your life through creating systems that flex and bend. Ritual and routine can instill you with the sense of security you crave while also leaving room for organic change to take place should obstacles or better rhythms surface. This will last through September 13th. On September 3rd, another solar conjunction will, like clockwork, see you begin to transition back toward being the evening star, or the wise guide, using all that you've seen on your inside fast-track to help others to places you've already been. On September 14th, as the wise guide, a harmonious step into the sign of Libra and your 5th house of creative flair will have you modeling for others how to use elegance and fairness to command and step into being seen. Until the end of summer, use your willingness to shine. Take charge of helping others through your words and aesthetic, leading them to see with greater balance and romance.

Autumn: On October 3rd a new energy will put you into a more serious and mature focus. Moving over to Scorpio's terrain of intensity and your 6th house of work and adulating, you'll be fixated on creating a lifestyle that is very controlled, powerful, and precise. Work and wellness efforts that go beyond the surface of things—mysterious, psychological, healing, or dealing with shared resources—are areas that can give you a lot of purpose. Creating processes around these things will help you to feel useful and practical. Your last retrograde of the year will come in this area of your chart. From October 31st through November 20th you'll be in a slowdown as the comics ask that you reflect on how you are finding your sense of wholeness through the work you engage. In the middle of this, on November 11th, the last transition of the year will happen where you will begin to move from evening star to morning star, closing out the year in your more childlike persona, captivated by the wonder of the world. Refocused and moving forward through Scorpio after November 20th, you'll find more joyful alignment with your work. Wide-eyed wonder and a thirst for learning will help you gather the information you need to make headway in your daily projects and rhythms. From December 9th through the 28th, Sagittarius will envelope Mercury and your attention will focus on relationships and engaging in more balanced give and take. There's an optimism and larger than life attitude that you gravitate toward in your relationships, making the end of the year perfect for exciting adventures, possibly overseas with a special other. The last few days of the year will sober you up as you dip into Capricorn and a need to engage in deeper intimacy and sharing. Those with authority in the fields of psychology and wealth management can help you with tools to structure some control into these areas. .

THE CRAB

4TH SIGN | WATER | CARDINAL (initiator)
EARLY SUMMER ENERGY

Your intuitive connection to life is eerily accurate, but having a deep link to the unseen can make you question yourself and your sanity at times. Being the sign of the moon, mood is your terrain, changing and phasing as often as our lunar Queen of the night. You teach us all about the importance of nurturing, creating security in our private lives, and having a soulful existence. Sisterhood, women, home, and imagination are the secret weapons of your fertile glow.

2019 SEASONAL OVERVIEW

Summary: The above chart shows how your personal ruler, the moon, is moving throughout the year. As a pupil of Lady Luna, life can get down right confusing. It's, by far, the fastest moving ruler in our solar system, shifting signs every 2 1/2 days. Not only that, it's constantly changing phases as well as moving above and below the ecliptic. Have you every really tried to keep track of its movements? The term lunacy may be how you feel due to this. The good side of this constant ebb and flow of mood is that you are the zodiac's empath, touching base with every sign, each month. You are relate-able, nurturing, and in the know around how people are feeling, making you popular, great at spotting trends, and very human. So, maybe others adore you, but that doesn't detract from the fact that you often feel flooded and vulnerable. This is where astrology and this report can come in handy. I've designed a few tools to help anchor you throughout the year. There are some larger patterns that the moon creates. Leaning into these can help give you more focus and grounding with the flexibility to still enjoy your fast track change of mood and need for reflection with others. From a different, non-geocentric perspective, since your ruler orbits the earth, and the earth orbits the sun only once per year, you also have a cycle that is longer term, 1 year, and more stable. This is what I'm honing in on for you. Looking above, you can see that the moon will post in your sign in the 4 cardinal phases (new, 1st quarter, full, and last quarter) only one time each year. Each of these will also, like clockwork, fall near the start of one quarter season. This can inform you about a general focus to stay aligned with, calming the fluctuation of feelings streaming through. Not to make things more complicated, but then again, this may fill in a mystery for you, these quarter phases will move backwards for you. Where each month, the moon phases in a rhythm of new, to 1st quarter, to full, to last quarter. Over the year, the moon will make those phases in your sign, in reverse. Winter places you in the full moon phase, spring the 1st quarter phase, summer the new phase, and autumn the last quarter phase. This reverse longer term mode shows where some of your eerie premonitions may come from. As if you experience the fullness of the year while others are in a seed phase, and so know what's to come when the summer of blossoming hits the rest of the world. Below is a more in-depth breakdown of each quarter season's anchoring focuses.

One side note: Since the north node moved into your sign at the end of 2018, there is indication that you Cancers are exhausted, more confused than typical, but potentially also finding great releases that are followed by inspiration and dreams of what new things are about to come. When your birthday season arrives, the later Cancers with birthdays after July 9th, or rising signs that fall in the degrees of 17-29 (the lunar nodes move in retrograde or reverse direction), will find themselves planting seeds for brand new 19 year paths, with fresh energy and bold awakening. The other half will get their turn next year, but for this year, rest up, dream, surrender, and shed things from your life. You may not see it when up close to this cycle, but great meaning, symbolic ah-Ha's and spiritual help are at hand.

Winter: On December 22, 2018, the moon lit up a very dark sky, full, in your own sign. This initiated you into the new year and the season of winter with a feeling of nurtured blossoming. This is your season to feel your most imaginative, connected, and valued. In January, focus on self-care, tending to the roots of your life by making your private foundations secure and comfortable. January 21st through February 17th will be your time to communicate, move around, and feel a sense of community and belonging. February 18th through March 19th will be for slowing down to enjoy your senses and the material side of life, finding ways to feel valued and possess things.

Dates of note with the moon in your sign: January 19-20, February 15-16, March 14-16.

Spring: On April 12th, the Cancer 1st Quarter Moon will anchor you into spring and a season of feeling centered in self, a dissolving of self, and ending with a need to rebel and think progressively, especially with friends or other groups. This will be your sleepest season of the year but also a one filled with a lot of intuitive dreams and inspired symbols showing up to give you a sense of meaning and connection to the universe and the collective. From March 20th through April 19th, you have a window to be your most self-focused and selfish. Great personal passions may arise and a need to clear away any debris from your life will create new space and more centering to be in touch with yourself. From April 20th through May 20th, you will feel a detachment and loss of grounding. Use this time to practice self-compassion, finding compassion for all. Forgive things, sleep more, and compose art. Talk to the universe and listen for it to talk back in symbolic ways. From May 21st through June 20th, let your inner bohemian out. Be original, be unapologetic, and think outside of the box. Groups and friends could be the key to giving you hope and vision for your future and humanity's future.

Dates of note with the moon in your sign: April 11-12, May 8-9, June 4-5.

Summer: On July 2nd, a new moon in your sign will anchor you into summer. In backward fashion, this is a season for you to focus on being responsible, cool, and sharing your life with others: from perspective and beliefs to the more psychological aspects of resources, body, and soul. It is summer and warm out, so shorter term cycles will help you to loosen up and play a bit, too. From June 21st through July 21st get very aligned in order to feel your authority and ability to reach high in the world. Accept pressures and restrictions as gifts of solidifying greater authority and capability into your life. From July 22nd through August 22nd find vision and perspective. Share your beliefs and allow them to be pushed outside of your comfort zone. See the world or learn more about it through books and documentaries. Think big and act big. From August 23rd through September 22nd share more intimately with those in your inner circle. Some power struggles or a need to control may surface as this brings out a very psychological aspect of life. Sex, death, and shared resources may take center stage and all the issues that come along with finding the balance between abused power and empowerment.

Dates of note with the moon in your sign: July 1-3, August 25-26, September 21-23

Autumn: The October 21st last quarter moon in your sign will anchor you into autumn. This will be a season of finding balanced and elegant trust in others, feeling self-sufficient, and then ending with a step into the spotlight to top the year off. From September 23rd through October 22nd, lean into your relationships. Find a romantic outlook on life, whether or not you are with a spouse. Fight for the underdog, and practice being in exchange with the world, giving a graciously as you receive. Like breathing, make a point of engaging both energies each day. From October 23rd through November 21st find a sense of self-sufficiency and make your life a sacred practice that has processes, rhythms, and skill. Practice is pertinent as is tidying up any loose ends that are inefficient or cluttering your life. Refinement in the word of this block of time. Ending the year from November 22nd through December 20th, you'll feel your most outgoing and fun. Enjoy the holiday festivities and take center stage should you like—it's on offer. This is a beautiful time for you to lead, play, be affectionate, and feel admired. The last ten days of December technically put us into our following winter and your time to hunker into your favorite things: family, nurturing, and feeling secure in the hive you call home. Your next real anchor point will come at the Cancer full moon in 2020 on January 10th.

Dates of note with the moon in your sign: October 19-21, November 15-17, December 12-14

THE LION

5TH SIGN | FIRE | FIXED (stubborn)
MID SUMMER ENERGY

Like a young adult making a name for themselves, you do everything with a sense of flair and command, using your warmth and generosity to keep the spotlight firmly pointed in your direction. Regal, magnanimous, and sometimes egotistical, you teach us all about the importance of having pride in our sense of style and presence. With the sun ruling your sign, you are the solid ruler of the daytime hours.

2019 SEASONAL OVERVIEW

Summary: The above chart shows how your personal ruler, the sun, is moving and affecting you through 2019. Of course the sun doesn't move, but astrology is, in short hand, a geocentric system. The sun's apparent path around the Tropical Zodiac is what determines our western calendars. Because of this, it has the most predictable movement of all cosmic ruling bodies, which also makes you very steady and reliable. Some things of note about your ruler are that we only see it in the daytime, making it the ruler of our conscious mind and active vitality. It gives us our warmth and most gravitate toward it at all times of the year, basking in its loving rays. The same can be said about you. You exude warmth, command, and a shine that's hard to turn away from. Like the sun, you need not do anything but be, still and present, and people will gather to be in your vicinity. Sounds like you hit the jackpot, no? There are a few little things to consider that can cast some harshness to your solar shine. Just like the sun, always shining, always on, there can be burnout from both within yourself and others needing a break. The need to be in the spotlight with its easy access to you can make you demanding, narcissistic, and cruel. Especially in warmer months, it can be very easy for these traits to come out. Because your ruler is never seen in the night sky, this gives you hesitation around looking at your dark side—which can cause your shadows to run rampant. On that note, it's your ruler's energy that creates shadows, yet you typically decide, unless you have a lot of water in your chart, not to reflect or dive under your surface to understand them. Shallow depths can creep up on you if you're not careful. To combat this, especially if you're burning up with your own overheating, take long walks in the moonlight. Push yourself a little to cool down, look into the darkness, and recognize its own brand of beauty. You were born with the cosmic long-end of the stick so don't waste it on getting too caught up in your own heat and dramas. Because you are our year's barometer, the monthly soli-lunar messages (a little further down) aren't far off of what I could write in your seasonal summaries, but I'll give some quick big picture things to think about for each quarter of the year.

QUARTER SEASONS

I'm going to structure these quarter seasons as if you were playing a chess game since you are the King piece of the zodiac. There are certain things that will assist you in building a strategically successful year by looking at it in this way. Since your ruler never turns retrograde or stays up to contemplate things lurking in the dark, you do well to surround yourself with trusted advisors who have the inside track as well as those with spiritual insight. Your job, like the sun, is to always look forward and be seen reliably present in the center of the universe. With your strong link to the moon, others who can reflect things back to you will bring a sense of wholeness to your life. Lean on the advice of those who can move in more agile and out of the spotlight ways.

Winter: In the winter, you'll do well to be surrounded by those who can bring soft reflective light around how to be organized, thoughtful, and self-sufficient, like a Bishop piece. Look to those who are productive to help give you counsel around the wellness and rhythms of your work and lifestyle. In February's mid-winter, partners are the best way for you to gain insight into your ability to exchange and be considerate, similar to the Queen piece. The end of winter, in March's fluid days, a psychologist or intimate partner can reflect to you, how you share and connect to your sense of empowerment. In chess pieces, this could be seen either as a trusted Queen (partner) or via the deep insights of the humble Bishop types—those whom you know to be kind and spiritually guided. The point is to be around others that you can trust with your inner most secrets, fears, and seductions.

Spring: Moving into spring, you approach the top of your chart where a lot of pressure lays in wait. April will serve you best to find your Knights, the people who can reflect back to you a sense of adventure and expansion. Mid spring, mostly in May, tradition and focus are the name of the game, turning toward trusted Rook types who can reflect to you the power of dedication and devotion. Commit to your goals and let others reflect to you when you are aligned and sticking to your integrity. Moving into the end of May and June, the Pawns of life are your best friends, helping you to connect to humanity and the power behind seeing through the eyes of the masses. Watch for movements, connect to the similarity that being a human holds for any and all, and stand behind the will of the people.

Summer: Ah, your season of sunny glory. Starting out from the end of June through the end of July, you'll actually be in a time of decompression, in your sleepest mode of the year before stepping onto your royal throne at your birthday season. The Bishops of the world, those with spiritual insight and intuitive wisdom can reflect to you, the depth you possess and help you to see how your shadows are affecting you. The end of July to the end of August is your season to shine your brightest. It's all about you with everything revolve around you—as feels most natural. Center in Self, be courageous, and adopt some of the Knight's qualities of boldness and self-possession. Moving into the end of summer, your self-worth and the pleasures of life will heighten with your senses. The Rooks of the world (those most devoted of friends or family that have a dedicated investment in your wellbeing and security) can help protect and reflect back to you, how to see your worth and honor your value.

Autumn: Moving into the end of September through to around October 20th, circle back around with the Pawns of the world. Gather, connect, and learn things through allowing more community into your life to reflect to you, what's interesting and worth being a part of. November will be for your Queens, intuitive, protective, and willing to go to battle for you. The loving commitment of this type, the people closest in your life that would die for you, will reflect to you, the importance of finding depth. Another great season is in store moving into December—a creative time of being seen, just the way you love. Center in your own Kingly self. No reflection needed other than the quality of affection you receive back from all of the players of the world.

The Days when the moon moves through your sign will bring the easiest access to the counsel that's best suited to the season: January 21-22, February 17-18, March 17th, April 13-14, May 10-11, June 6-8, July 3-4, August 28-29, September 24-25, October 21-22, November 18-19, December 14-16.

You teach us all about the work ethic it takes to gather as well as discern the wheat from the chaff of all that's well and pure.

2019 SEASONAL OVERVIEW

Summary: The above chart shows how your personal planet, Mercury, is moving and affecting you through 2019. Take note of the three retrograde periods as these will mark the times of year, as well as areas of your life, that need a slower reflective pace. Not shown in the chart is another rhythm that Mercury makes as either a morning or evening star, only seen for a couple of days around six times each year. Your planet is an elusive speedster, hard to pin down, lapping our own orbit around the sun by 3x (although from our perspective it seems to only orbit around just over one time—the little trickster with the inside track). Starting out in 2019, Mercury will be in transition from a morning star to an evening star as it makes a superior conjunction to the sun (opposite side of sun from us) on January 29th. On February 26/27, you will be able to see your planet just after dusk, above the horizon line. This is Mercury's Elder of Service phase, similar to Gemini's Old Man archetype ruled by the same planet, but Mercury takes on slightly different archetypes for you. His relationship to you as your ruler in his evening star phase is more as a service provider, someone who knows how to get results, produce, and systemize things in order to feel useful, helpful, whole, and of purpose. On March 14th an inferior conjunction with the sun will be made (Mercury between the earth and the sun), starting the transition to Mercury as the morning star, or the eager youth, running ahead to analyze nature and all of the pieces of life that organically weave together. Head out before dawn on April 11th and look to the east before sunrise to see Mercury as the morning star. This pattern will repeat twice more over the year. Each time Mercury conjuncts the sun (3 superior and 3 inferior), the transition phase starts where you'll feel yourself beginning to open to youthful new ways of seeing how ecologies interact or like a caretaker, assisting others to see the inner workings of instinct and sacred rhythms. Your speedy planet has been once around the sun before the earth, so you've already analyzed, broken things down, and put them back together making you an amazing guide when setting after the sun, helping the rest of humanity to process life when in the dark.

Winter: In Capricorn for a good chunk of January, your ruler will have you eagerly and lightheartedly analyzing all of the things that bring your life the kind of structure that helps you build. Creative projects and taking the lead in something will bring up a few tense moments that will ultimately help you to gain clarity around how to handle the spotlight in a cooperative and fair way. New paths will be found and you'll push past the intensity of this with a cool breeze. On the morning of January 24th, you'll wake to a new tone with your ruler in Aquarius. A bit anarchist, but also humanitarian, this 6th house placement will have you looking at the processes and work in your life and thinking up original ways to be more free yet productively creative. You may feel a need to not only breakdown the systems of your own life, but also the systems that humanity seems to think are teathered to their lives. On the 29th as you meet up with the sun, you begin to mature into your Elder of Service role, seeing your purpose as a need to help move others along their paths rather than being in a state of analyzing and weaving new webs. February 10th will move your planet along to your artistic and dreamy Piscean relationships. In the evening star role, this will have you in connection with others in mature and deep ways to help push cosmic messages forward. Your first retrograde of the year starts on March 5th in the harmonizing location of your chart. A review of your balance around give and take may need to take place. Revisit, rethink, realign. On the 14th, an inferior conjunction between Mercury and the sun will begin your transition toward the youthful gatherer, the analyst version of yourself.

Spring: The first days of spring will have you ending your Pisces retrograde period. Once direct on March 28th, you'll see with more clarity, partnering directions that feel aligned. At the end of winter, you were focused on being in service. This time around as you retrace some steps, you'll be in analytic and digesting mode. From April 17 - May 6 in the self-focused sign of Aries and your 8th house of intimacy and shared resources, you'll find greater boldness to understand your brand of independent power. It's a time for making decisions that will propel you toward exciting paths of being a pioneer in how you share with passionate depth and strategize impulsive resource growth. Find your seductive individualism and magnetic ways of being authentic. May 7 - 20 will be for finding grounding and sensuality through pushing your horizons. Mercury will be traveling through material Taurus and your worldly 9th house. On May 21st you'll again meet up with the sun and begin transitioning to your Elder of Service self. Oh, all the different personas you wear, Virgo. It's no wonder your nervous system is over taxed. At the same time, Mercury will also shift into Gemini and the top of your chart—its 10th house of career. Until June 4th, you'll be in a more wise guiding role moving through the terrain of your aspirations. Your reach may be to help the world through your literary words or your ability to make connections and build community. June 5th through the end of spring, a tour through Cancer's terrain will bring up issues of groups and friendships and how they are nurtured and make you feel secure in your life. Use your soulful connection to women, intuition, your ability to create family-like atmosphere to cozy up your group life or collaborate in things around women, feminism, food, clothing, or home goods. Connect into how the tides of the moon and a need for security are channeled into how you innovate and individuate yourself.

Summer: Less than a week into summer, on June 27th, Mercury will push into the creative and vital sign of Leo in your final 12th house of your chart. This is a sleepy time in your Elder of Service role. Surrender in order to find your light. Get lost in order to lead. Use this time up until July 7th, when retrograde season hits once again, to show others how to process shadows in a way that is creative and brings a glamorous shine to life. During the retrograde, through August 1st, you are meant to rethink and reflect on how you let go into cosmic flow using your heart and your creative spirit. Accept that detours or delays might be redirecting you or showing you things that need to be fixed spiritually or artistically. During this retrograde, a solar meet-up will happen on July 21st. This will start your transition from the Elder of Service into the youthful analyst. From July 20th through August 1st your review and rewind will take a step back into Cancer and your 11th house. Your friendships may take a little hit as some reflection leads you to new insights that need you to take different steps. Walking forward again between August 1st and the 10th, you'll have your chance for a do-over around how to break free into the soulful side of yourself, finding new ways of feeling progressive and friendly while moving through your youthful side of wonderment. Once back in Leo on the 11th, artistic shine will envelope your heart. Information may seem to download out of nowhere and composing will feel easy as long as your heart is leading and you are open to unseen guides showing you symbolic ways of understanding life's most mysterious systems. August 29th as Mercury shifts into your own sign of holistic Virgo, a strong awakening will be felt—your personal spring of the year. This place in your chart, your 1st house, is your illumination point where you find a greater sense of self, passion, and assertive power. It's time to focus on you and getting centered and clear. Spring clean, detox your body, and empty your mind of any baggage ready to go. As a Virgo, you can be nit picky and critical, but at your core, you are seeking holistic systems—which hold a lot of room for imperfection. Remember this as you busy yourself to make your Self refined. Energize your life through simplifying. Ritual and routine can instill you with the sense of sacred Self that you crave while also leaving room for organic change to take place should obstacles or better rhythms surface. This will last through September 13th. Back on September 3rd, another solar conjunction will, like clockwork, see you begin to transition back toward being the evening star, or the wise elder, using all that you've seen on your inside fast-track to help others to places you've already been. On September 14th, as the wise guide, a harmonious step into the sign of Libra and your 2nd house of self-worth will have you modeling for others how to use elegance and fairness to give form to their material lives. Until the end of summer, tap your connection to slow, simple pleasures. Take charge of helping others through your senses, leading them to ground with greater balance and romance.

Autumn: On October 3rd a new energy will put you into a more serious and mature focus. Moving over to Scorpio's terrain of intensity and your 3rd house of connection, you'll be fixated on pollinating information and community that is precise and powerful. Words and mentalities that go beyond the surface of things—mysterious, psychological, healing, or dealing with shared resources—are areas that can bring you a lot of belonging. Creating processes around these things will help you to feel useful. Your last retrograde of the year will come in this area of your chart. From October 31st through November 20th you'll be in a slowdown as the comics ask that you reflect on how you are finding your sense of wholeness through the connections you engage. In the middle of this, on November 11th, the last transition of the year will happen where you will begin to move from evening star to morning star, closing out the year in your more childlike persona, captivated by the layers of processes in the world. Refocused and moving forward through Scorpio after November 20th, you'll find more joyful alignment with your mind and communities. Wide-eyed wonder and a thirst for learning will help you recognize the information you need to make headway in your writing, speaking, and learning rhythms. From December 9th through the 28th, Sagittarius will envelope Mercury and your attention will focus on home and family. There's an optimism and larger than life attitude that you gravitate toward in the roots of your life and in how you nurture. The last few days of the year will place you in the spotlight as you dip into Capricorn and share your ability to give structure to creative output. Authority in creativity and leadership that you may have sought in January, will feel more present this time around in Capricorn.

2019 SEASONAL OVERVIEW

Summary: The above chart shows how your personal planet, Venus, is moving and affecting you through 2019. The most poignant news is that she will be retrograde-free. Not shown in the chart is another rhythm that Venus makes as either a morning or evening star which will affect your general tone. Starting out in 2019, Venus will be seen in the skies as a morning star, or Lucifer (light bearer). In this phase through to mid-June when she disappears into the sun's brightness, this makes you more youthful and expressive of your emotions and sensuality. After Venus disappears, making a superior conjunction to the sun on August 14th in Leo, she will reappear several weeks later, in early October, as the evening star, or Hesperus. This will make you feel more mature, in control of your emotions and values, focusing them inward rather than letting them rush out of you unfiltered. Use the first half of the year to be more free and expressive, the third quarter (summer) to find balance between self and other, and the last quarter of the year to find depth in your values and emotional goals. Generate elegant exchange through sharing and allow vulnerability to rise to your surface, something you're already a natural at.

Winter: During the winter months, Venus, your planetary ruler, will be moving through the signs of Scorpio, Sagittarius, Capricorn, and Aquarius. These are autumn and winter signs that indicate a need to share and be civilized amidst outside similarities and differences. Also traveling through your 2nd - 5th houses, lighter and more self-focused houses will make you motivated and eager to get things going—which is great for the morning star phase. You will need to find balance between being impulsive and creative while also mature and considerate due to the kinds of scenarios that will likely arise. The flow of energy will focus on connection and community for most of January. From February 4 - March 1 you'll feel a little more vulnerable and in need of the kind of security that home and family can provide. Entering March, more fun is in store as your ruler moves through your 5th house of creativity and enjoying the spotlight. This will last through March 25th.

Spring: In the morning star phase all season (and able to be seen before sunrise until mid-June) you'll have an expressive and impulsive tone this spring to match the time of year. From March 26th - April 19th, you'll be gliding through dreamy Pisces in your productive 6th house. A focus on your daily rhythms will have you wanting to lighten your load adding more fun, possibly indulging in a bit of escapism in your day-to-day dealings. Composing fresh, light art that is useful to the world is a great way to deal with this period. From April 20 - May 14 a stint in Aries will give your engines a boost. Action and heat will come alive in your relationships as you find new self-trust around who and how to trust in your one-on-one exchanges. May 15 - June 7 brings material Taurus energy in your 8th house of power and shared resources. Feel valued through what you share with others (or through what is shared with you). As the morning star side of yourself during this time, animalistic qualities may surface, making you power hungry. Watch hoarding tendencies or greedy behavior in your entanglements. OR that you aren't naive and taken advantage of due to impulsive choices. June 8 - July 2 a move to Gemini will feel easier for your airy ways. Exploration, learning, and big community engagement is possible. Also during this window, you'll begin to settle your more impulsive, uninhibited side as your ruler begins to disappear into the sun's brightness on its way to cross it in August.

Summer: Summer will be a season to navigate a transition from your youthful morning star self to your more matured Queenly evening star self. The actual crossover of the sun, that marks this, won't happen until August 14th, but both for several weeks before and after, a balance is in negotiation. It's a time to feel your most balanced between introverted and extroverted, matching your own sign's qualities of equal day and night, harmonizing and equalizing. From July 3 - 26 Venus will move through soulful Cancer, a lovely place to start mellowing out. Elegance can be found through honoring your family, nurturing yourself, and trusting your intuition. These are steps that will help you reach high and fairly toward aspirations. July 27 - August 20 a bold step into Leo's lions den will have you engaging groups, collaborations, friendships, and humanity as a leader and creative spark. August 21 - September 13 a turn in Virgo will begin to push you more further toward your adult, evening star self. This is a sign that will help you dissolve boundaries and connect to things beyond your understanding. Make more time for decompression and find practical ways to escape normal pressures of life to surrender and get lost to find yourself.

Autumn: A touch before Autumn Equinox, Venus will move into your own sign on September 14. This will be feel similar to a personal spring of the year. Revived boundaries, sense of Self, and passions will bring you to life as you step into your evening star role as a more regal and reserved version of yourself. October 8 - 31 you'll connect to deep self-worth through the intensity of Scorpio, sharing your heart and life with others. Slow down and find pleasure though being vulnerable in your inner and outer resources. During this period, if you look to the western horizon after sunset, you will see your planet shining bright like a star. November 1 - November 24 a move to Sagittarius will have you thinking deeply and connecting to community through philosophical wisdom. This is a great time for foreign travel, especially for educational purposes or for things with a bigger picture purpose. November 25 - December 19 will have you hunkering down for some self-care, tending to home and family (now as a more mature version of yourself versus this same tour in February as the morning star). You'll find more patience and ability to solve problems that will soften and bring depth to the roots of your life. December 20 to 2020 brings rebellious Aquarian energy your way as well as creative juices that you'll be able to step into a leadership role through, making for a great New Year!

You teach us all about how to face demons, uproot blocks, and face transformation and power with grit and stamina.

2019 SEASONAL OVERVIEW

Summary: The above chart shows how your personal planets, Mars and Pluto, are moving and affecting you through 2019. Why do you get two ruling planets? This is because until Pluto's discovery, astrologers assigned Mars to steward over your sign. They formed such a bond that there is still a relationship left. I'm an advocate that Pluto's symbolism is much more aligned to your own, making me believe that he's your true ruler, but that Mars will always be on hand as an advocate to help you move things along when you need a bit of a pick-me-up. Call on him when you are too fixated or obsessing over things you can't do much about. Since Pluto is suuuuch a slow mover, he gives you the control and precision that you truly crave. This slowness and power to focus can also be the thing that creates blocks in your life that you'll many time over have to uproot or burn something down in order to rebuild with access to what was cut off. You are the zodiac's Phoenix, reinventing yourself many times in a lifetime. Since 2008, Pluto has had you focused on your alignment, integrity, and focus around community, connection, and communication. He goes back and forth from direct to retrograde to direct over just 3 degrees this year (which is typical). Taking notes from the Sabian Symbols (symbolism for each degree of the zodiac—Dane Rudhyar's version used as inspiration), Capricorn degrees 20-23 that you move through this year are concerned specifically with a high view of life, an elevation that can either bring greed or lessons that the truly great have suffered. The progression: 1) learning about group success, being part of a team in cooperation yet engaging in competition. It's about taking control of your own mastery in service of a more broad goal. 2) Learning defeat as something that can bring you greater lessons than victory, especially when others are under your command. Inner strength is developed not by winning but by how we respond and learn. 3) Chosen to make sacrifice and risk of self for the good of society, you are rewarded. What is the just relationship to hold between yourself and society? 4) Gaining the acceptance of society to commit to a spiritual goal, removing yourself from the strains and stresses of mundane life in favor of achieving something that transcends security. These are some themes that your ruler will go back and forth over this year, committed to precision and control in connecting to their power. As for Mars, when you need a break, he's in a fast forward motion this year, retrograde-free, and can be a bridge for you to get more done. The quarter season overview (below) will give more insight into his access and movements in your chart this year.

Winter: Mars moves into his home sign of Aries on New Year's Eve, igniting a new 2-year cycle for him. For you, his journey starts in your 6th house of work and lifestyle. You could find revived passion and clarity about how to feel whole and useful through pioneering or independent work. You'll have energy to focus on the rhythms of your days and create more clear processes and systems to be efficient and useful. On February 12th he meets up with Uranus, rebel planet, for a surprise of sorts. Groups or collaborations, as well as erratic happenings, have played prominently in your work life since 2011 with this progressive planet having been centered in Aries. This date may show you how big of a deal that's been. On February 15th you will feel Mars' move into Taurus and your 7th house. This will get you in touch with your 5 earthy senses and help you to refresh how you find balance, harmony, and attend to the exchanges needed to cultivate healthy relationships. It's a great time to ground, slow down, and see what you truly honor in your partnerships and the give and take in your life.

Spring: On March 31st Mars, will move into the agile and intellectual sign of Gemini. This will get you thinking and communicating about your more intimate and entangled needs. Sharing your words and with your community will bring greater empowerment to your life. You may feel blocked or resist sharing your ideas, but this is how you can create wealth and intimacy in your life. View your mind as a resource that needs to be in exchange to create greater flow of intimacy and wealth management. Let mysteries seduce you. They will lead you to witness your blocks and how to uproot them. Come May 16th Mars will shift into Cancer for the rest of spring. You may become more vulnerable as you seek greater security. Oddly, this may be felt through the need to expand your horizons. Use your imagination and soulfulness to broaden your perspectives around home, family, and comfort. On June 12th as Mars crosses over the North Node, pay attention to themes that come up. There will be an eclipse here one month later that will create some big new beginnings around themes of pushing your comfort zone. The days surrounding June 18th hold a lot of energy for you as Saturn and your other ruler, Pluto, will be in opposition from Capricorn. There could be push-pull scenarios around feeling secure in your own neighborhood vs seeking things in the greater world.

Summer: A move to Leo in the first days of July will have you focused on career and aspirational goals. The spotlight may be on you as you stand tall as a leader and creative in the world. On August 18th a move into Virgo will see you detaching a little from life. This sign places Mars in your 11th house of groups, innovation, friendships, and humanity. You may start to ponder your future and the future of the world. A step out of ego will allow you to be part of something greater than you to co-create for the future. With Virgo at the helm here, you can find your personal brilliance through systematizing and organizing groups, helping them to find their productive output and usefulness.

Autumn: October 4th through November 18th, Mars will travel into your shadow house of Libra, asking that you allow yourself extra time to decompress, surrender, and dream. In the last house of your chart, before stepping into your own sign on November 19th, you may feel some overwhelm. Just as we need a good night sleep to function well for a new day, this part of your chart needs you to rest for a new year. Between November 19th and the end of the year, a move to Scorpio could bring a feeling of awakening, clarity, and passion to your surface. Slowly clear debris from your life through spring cleaning, detoxes, and mental cataloging of what old mindsets are ready to be swept away. As you do this, the clarity and space surrounding you will make room for new paths and agendas to appear.

THE ARCHER

9TH SIGN | FIRE | MUTABLE (flexible)
LATE AUTUMN ENERGY

Wise in your ways, you are the perennial adult who's been through the ringer, pushed your boundaries, and experienced an ability to reach the other side of dark nights outside of your comfort zone. You know that perception is all that stands between playing it safe and leaping into a bigger life. You teach us all the value of understanding how others live, believe, and view civilization. It's in your ability to broaden horizons that you see the philosophical truth and best ruling of any scenario.

2019 SEASONAL OVERVIEW

Summary: Your fire cousin, Leo, may be the royal Kings & Queens of the zodiac, but with Jupiter ruling your sign, you hold title as the Gods and Goddesses ruling over all—more mythical and veiled, but holding great powers. The largest planet in our solar system, you are bigger than life in many ways, making optimism and a willingness to throw yourself into unfamiliar terrain your trademark. Sharing perspective and wisdom is your root desire which means your job is to broaden your horizons with experiences that bring both epic wins and failures. You tend to aim and shoot for the stars—seeing the details around you isn't your thing—but somehow you manage to find a way to your big visions, using the light of the stars in darkness as a compass. But this is also why most of your failures result, in not seeing the details that need attention. Honed focus and a whole lot of belief, seeking, storytelling, publishing, religion, higher education, philosophy, and big enterprises are your domain. If you can take a giant step back to look at your planet's orbit around the zodiac, you'll see that in the longterm, some of your failures aren't actually failures. Jupiter is very closely aligned to the sun, they're polar opposites in ways. It's the planet that hugs the ecliptic more closely than any other, sticking almost exactly in-line with the sun's apparent path. Where the sun travels this path, covering 12 signs yearly, Jupiter spends one year in each sign, traveling the path every 12 years. What this means is that Jupiter acts like a great big oak tree—or an oak door—to each sign's strongest growth and vision. Do not rush things, Do not give up hope. At each big failure, note that maybe things will come full circle in a different way, years from now, with success. The great thinkers and philosophers of the world are ruled by your sign and hence the creation of civilization is a magic power in your bag. This year, Jupiter is igniting a new 12-year journey as he entered your sign in November 2018, to stay until December of this year. What you start now may not take off quickly. No oak tree takes off quickly. But, it is a year that you are having a personal spring of life. Fresh ideas, new clarity, and new paths are opening. Pace yourself, there's a long ride ahead. Things may even seem to fail, but track what you initiate now and over the course of the next 12 years. Reflect on how your perspectives change and expand, possibly circling back around with success markers each 3 years, hitting some kind final and massive summit when Jupiter reaches Virgo (ruling your 10th house of achievement) in July 2027 - August 2028. There are other things in your chart that will have shorter cycles and quicker successes, but your most personally held agendas and passions are on the slow, but great, growth model. At any time, you can look back 12 years and ask what you were doing and if something similar in theme to that period is having a growth spurt. Because your planetary ruler is in one sign all year, there's not much movement to track in the below quarter seasons, but I'll give notes about a few big moments to watch out for.

Winter: Revive your engines! The past couple of years, but especially last year, have likely been a bit stagnate as your work was focused on breaking down and releasing your previous cycle. This whole year is a bit like a sunrise with fresh notes of a new day helping you to connect to new passions. But especially winter will be your quarter of reawakening. January 13th and 14th hold the first of three Jupiter Neptune squares to happen this year, adding a bit of fantasy to your tone. To a smaller degree, this will be felt for a good chunk of the year. This dreamy quality mixed in with your new beginning cycle will add some glamour and intuitive imagination to 2019. January 21st and 22nd will bring a very lovely meet-up with Venus in your sign. She is coming to whisper how beautiful and valuable you are. Spruce up your look, wardrobe, beauty rituals, and open yourself to receiving, in whatever form you most need.

Spring: Slow things down as you move into spring. Jupiter is heading for a retrograde to start on April 10th (lasting through mid summer), but it's shadow period, the weeks before it enters retrograde, is also not great for committing to things as you're going to be retracing those steps. Your personal full moon of the year will fall on June 17th. Even though you'll be in a more introspective place, this will be a time of feeling your new path and year of spring vibes, blossoming and maturing. Allow space for things to feel their way through the dark of the retrograde. Some deep and insightful nutrients can be found during this time giving you soulful energy. The last few days of spring, surrounding June 16th, Jupiter and Neptune square off again, igniting some even dreamier glamorous vibes as your planet is in an introspective state.

Summer: Early summer will be a great time to drift off and do exactly as you want to do. Dive into your inner layers in order to find clarity around new passions igniting. Easily and calmly, give things time to vibrate and excite you. Get lost to find yourself. Your identity is getting a makeover and that takes some time to negotiate. Allow yourself to test and try new things. Don't expect everything to stick this year. The work of reaching your deepest authenticity insists on impulse and bravery, and that's exactly what this year is about. Come August 11th, a return to direct motion will have you looking forward and seeing more clearly than you did in the spring as you double back with new views and perspective on paths already tread.

Autumn: The first few days of autumn are drenched in the third and final Jupiter Neptune, surrounding the 21st of September. This time, the dynamic tension between the two will have you seeing with greater clarity and accuracy, how to use inspiration and spirit to broaden your beliefs and perspectives. The days surrounding October 24th will bring a deeper connection to the seasons and cycles of earth, and how its systems and ecologies can inspire passionate fruitfulness as Ceres connects with Jupiter. Ending the year, a move to Capricorn on December 2nd will see you feeling more sure of what passions you are going to pursue. It will now be time to slow down, giving your senses time to honor and bring more form and value to your path.

You teach us all about the importance integrity, authority, and building a solid life of timeless essence through slow and stable structuring. Your time comes just after middle age—after others in your generation have burned out.

2019 SEASONAL OVERVIEW

Summary: The granddaddy of our solar system! Until the telescope, your ruler, Saturn, was the furthest away planet that could be seen with the naked eye. Because of this many ancient myths attribute archetype around Saturn (hence you) as the end of the line, the boundary, the limit, the god of time and where reality is contained. Of course in modern times, we've found more planets and asteroids beyond Saturn, but to utilize them, you have to let go of your boundaries around what you believe consciousness to be. Just as Jupiter has a unique relationship with the sun, Saturn has one with the moon. They seem to have opposite patterns that makes a beautiful rhythm. The moon is the fastest moving ruler in the zodiac, changing signs every 2.5 days, completing one tour of its synodic cycle in around 29.5 days. Oppositely, Saturn is a very slow moving planet, changing signs every 2.5 years, completing one orbit of the zodiac in approximately 29.5 years. These also happen to rule polar signs as the moon rules over Cancer, your axis partner. Grandmother moon is always checking in and taking care to nurture us, intuit things, and comfort the human experience, while Grandfather Saturn upholds tradition, focusing with severe dedication, and providing the structure to achieve and master life within its practical limitations. Since December of 2017, Saturn made his big 29.5 year return to his home sign, your sign. He's in the process of a reset so a lot of you Capricorns are going through pretty major endings and beginnings. If your birthday falls before January 3rd (or rising sign in 11 degrees or earlier), you've definitely had Saturn cross your threshold to reignite new energy and paths. Throughout this year, those of you with birthdays before January 12th (or rising signs before 22 degrees) will transition from big endings to big beginnings. The later Capricorns will need to buckle down for a year of surrender, letting go, exhaustion, and possibly very complex scenarios. Your sign has had a confusing and tumultuous time of it for the past couple of years as you've each entered phases of ending huge cycles of life, likely indulging in some escapism. Big moments continue in your sign with two more heavy hitting transits taking place. First, Pluto, psychological planet of upheaval, transformation, and uprooting things blocking life force (often creating a figurative death and rebirth), has been in your sign since 2008. Two thirds of you have already been hit by his need to re-empower you, creating destruction in his wake. This year, those Capricorns born between January 10-13 (or rising signs between 20-23 degrees) will be up. He only traverses, back and forth, approximately three degrees every year. The other big deal is the south node is newly in your sign since November 2018, to move out in the summer of 2020. This shows that something in you has matured that you began in 2010/11, and is ready to be weighed and valued for exchange in the world. It will require loosening your grip on control to compromise, cooperate, and be in greater exchange. The nodes move in retrograde (or reverse) motion so the later Capricorns will feel the effect this year. In July, those born in the last half of Capricorn Season (or risings signs after 15 degrees) will experience a full moon (eclipse), when seeds from January's eclipse in your sign will blossom, being on the progressed side of the south node. Marriages and divorces often happen under this energy, too. Not that all will go through this, but if fate is pushing you toward someone special or you're not feeling a healthy sense of equality and exchange in a relationship, karma is pushing on these things during this transit. Since Saturn is a slow mover, the below quarter seasons will be brief and give important dates around the retrograde phase or big moments with transits to your planet.

Winter: The New Year started off with a bang in 2019 as the sun linked up with your ruler for their yearly boost in morale. Days later, on the 5th, the solar eclipse in your sign took place as you created seeds that will blossom come summer that will show you how elegant and ready for greater outer world interaction you are. On January 12th and 13th, Mercury in its eager morning star phase will catchup to you with messages, information, or opportunities in connection, community, or writing. This is your season to push forward in life as spring and summer will slow you down in a retrograde haze.

Spring: Starting April 30th, retrograde season will hit you. Until the end of summer calm your pace, look inward, look at life differently, find your depth and synthesize your inner and outer balance for greater understanding of life and what's trying to surface around your most authentic passions. Don't look at retrogrades as a bad thing. They are beautiful, but sometimes we don't realize this until we're out of them. Trust the process and be easier on yourself and life as a little more space will be given to you to dream and seek.

Summer: July 16th will bring a lunar eclipse in your sign with the moon siting right next to your ruler, Saturn, as well as Pluto. This will be intense. Something is in a growth state for you but it's going to put pressure and intensity on you to find fairness and putting yourself in another's shoes before reacting. Try to listen well and let go of trying to control everything. When something about you has ripened, sometimes it's not used in the world as you expect. This can be hard, but its time to let go and trust that sharing something with others will lead to building your reputation of being able to dance and compromise in the world. In the last few days of September, on the 18th, Saturn will return to direct and life will slowly begin to pick up in pace.

Autumn: You may notice themes from spring reemerge, but this time more clarity and sureness will be felt in choices made and directions taken. Intensity begins to heighten the further into autumn you go: a solar eclipse on December 25th will add a unique flavor to the holiday's with both extra cheer but also a lot of pressure, and Saturn moves closer and closer to Pluto, planet of transformation. Just ten days into 2020, these two will meet up and big things are indicated for good, or difficult. It will depend on your chart and how you handle power and control in your life. Early in December, Jupiter will move into your sign adding a bit of luck and expansive visions to the earliest Capricorn degrees. This will hit each of you at some point in 2020, adding optimism to some of the more intense things going on with Pluto and eclipses.

You do it your way. No matter what others do, you're always true to your originality bringing an electric current of progress and co-creation to all that you do. Detaching from life due to an elders status, you have the ability to be a true friend, unafraid of saying it like it is in a good-willed way. You teach us all about the importance of being humane and human, kind to all walks of life and seeing the importance of each individual in the collective makeup. The misfits and outcasts have just as much of a place in your circle of group movement (if not more) as those with status or popularity. Come one, come all.

2019 SEASONAL OVERVIEW

Summary: Ruled by the 7th planet from the sun, Uranus' uniqueness gifts you with many intriguing traits. Being the first planet discovered by telescope, there is a gateway that you create to view dimension in new ways. You break a lot of rules just as Uranus marches to his own beat, tipped on his side, rotating at a tilt of 98 degrees—as well as rotating in the opposite direction of most other planets (save Venus). Also the coolest planet, you have your own coolness that is trademark. With an orbit of 84 years, your planet stays in one sign for approximately 7 years. This means you can really dig in and flesh out certain areas of life over the long-haul, making discoveries and changing how we think. This year is special. In the spring of 2011 this planet made a longterm shift into the sign of Aries and your 3rd house. Greater independence, initiative, and self-centering was reflected in your core, with a thirst for communication, connection, and community. You've been busy in high energy mode, thinking, gathering, and pollinating a lot of authenticity around humanity's garden. Last spring Uranus quickly dipped into Taurus, introducing you to something different, something more grounded and reclusive, but a retrograde brought you back to Aries to tie up unfinished business. Early in March, this move will happen for the long-term. It's likely that you've been in some weird limbo as this has played out, but now you can focus and dig into a new area of life, tipping it on its side while adding your cool innovative touch. Taurus is all about the material side of life, what and how you value, earn, and budget. This sign loves the 5 earthy senses, hence sensuality and slow simple pleasure. Your 4th house, that will host your ruler, is about finding security, gaining strength through nurturing, home, and family. It takes you underground to your roots and a need to rely on intuition as fertile soils wrap you in loving darkness. Until 2026, you are going to be busy breaking down how the world views, handles, and gains security through the material side of life. Environmentalism as well as currency and how we deal with possession is about to see our financial world break apart to better serve the masses, rather than the elite. You are after all about the people. You create movements and rule over group energy, especially for the purpose of innovation and progress.

Before the discovery of Uranus, Saturn was your ruler. In my personal perspective, I don't use Saturn too often for you, but he is a co-ruler should you be interested in studying his motions. I view him as having been an advocate for you until we could reach your true planetary ruler. But, the relationship was deeply developed so I do believe he's on hand should you choose to tap into his movements. This year in austere Capricorn and your 12th house of art, healing, compassion, and shadows, he's attempting to structure and bring greater meaning to your spiritual and artistic life. Anytime you need some compassion and inspiration, especially around things you are feeling exhausted by around aspirations, career, or authority, he's there for you. Like an old-school business magnate reaching out from the beyond, he'll likely give you loving wisdom wrapped in tough love advice.

Winter: Things may start a little slow for you in 2019 as your ruler moves through the ending two degrees of Aries. The final degrees of a sign can bring exhaustion, releases, but also inspired dreams. The sun will also be in your 12th house through January 19th, holding similar themes of recuperation and letting go of old baggage. Make extra time for sleeping, art, and healing activities. As the sun moves to your sign on the 20th of January, you'll begin to slowly awaken, but you'll still be dealing with Uranus ending his Aries tour. This creates a bit of a mixed bag for you in mid winter in terms of beginnings and endings. Come March 6th as Uranus makes his long-term move to Taurus, new energy will start to bubble. Give it time. Don't rush. Like waking to a new day, sometimes we're groggy and sometimes we're up and at it. It'll be a varied depending on your individual charts, how this will play out for you.

Spring: Still getting your engines up and going, your energy will align quite well with spring energy. Fresh things are starting to show color, seeds are vibrating and cracking, new life is springing up. A new chapter will be felt. As in all beginnings, we need to be brave and charge into situations being a little naive. Some things you push into won't end up fitting well, but that's part of the process right now. Just do it. Try it. See what works and what doesn't. An urge to base more of your life through the grounding of home may feel important as will a new need to feel valued and appreciated. Voice this. When our needs change, it suits us best to speak up and tell those who can affect us, that we need a touch of rewiring or updates in our connections.

Summer: By summer, you'll start to feel the hang of your new tempo with new understanding and information helping you to communicate what's important to you and what you are hoping to turn on its side. But, you've been impulsive and rushed a bit too far ahead, missing a few pieces in the process. Come August 12th, your yearly 5 month retrograde will begin (to end January 11, 2020). This is nothing to be feared. It's actually an ideal time to review and get a chance to give greater depth and context to what you've rushed into. Be open to seeing things differently. Welcome opportunities to redo things. Watch for better paths that you may have missed while looking in one direction.

Autumn: Perspective from the outside world will help you to shape your new lens in autumn. Share your ideas and values with others to get many and varied perspectives that can help inform new prerogatives. Allow yourself to be seen as a pioneer with fresh ideas, even if you're not totally sure of your authority. The feedback is what you need right now and will be invaluable in helping you to identify aspirations.

THE FISH

12TH SIGN | WATER | MUTABLE (flexible)
LATE WINTER ENERGY

Compassion and tenderness are your middle name being the final and most elder sign of the zodiac. It's through your ability to forgive, surrender, and understand the oneness of all that you have a secret connection to inspired composition, magic, and the spiritual meaning of life. You teach us all about the importance of believing in things greater than Self and how this can help you transcend some of life's most complex circumstances. If you can avoid escapism, you can heal much in the world, thus in yourself.

2019 SEASONAL OVERVIEW

Summary: Inching along in direct motion and wandering away nearly half of every year in retrograde, you certainly have your own pace in life. The normal pressures that others submit themselves to may not be your cup of tea as you seek the ideal and spiritual side of things. As above, so below, you need more space being the furthest out planet in our solar system (now that Pluto has been downgraded to a dwarf planet). And though your rhythm may seem slow to others, if they stick around long enough they'll see that it's only because you have genius pulsing through you that takes time to compose with all of the complexity that you allow into your loose boundaries. You have a knack with mathematics, art, chemistry, and hard to comprehend mysticism. Taking nearly 14 years to move through a sign, Neptune's a little over half way through its tour of his home sign, your sign of Pisces. This is like a big reset to a new very long tour of the zodiac. You're in the midst of reinventing yourself, updating your identity, and aligning with personal passions and agendas. There's possibly more Self identifying pushing through you than you are comfortable with being the sign least connected to ego and most connected to universal energy. An octave higher than Venus' resonance, you also connect with love, but rather than one-on-one romantic love, yours is one more healing, with deep compassion and tenderness for dissolved boundaries where everything can be seen as part of everything. This year, three squares to your co-ruler, Jupiter (the planet that ruled your sign before Neptune was discovered) will take place, adding some shots of challenging growth and expansion through your achievements and career aims. Publishing, PR, philosophy, academia, and travel are few areas that may feel torque in how you are building your public position. Tensions bring dynamic heat and change that will ultimately bring successes.

Winter: In direct motion all winter and the sun placing a spotlight on the areas of your chart most similar to your personal energy, it's a season that will give you time and space to do things the way you want. Ease into the year and embrace the complex tones of winter that you're masterful at engaging. Art, creation, and dreams will welcome you to a year more lively than last. January 13th and 14th will hold the first of your three squares to Jupiter (and the only one when both planets are in direct motion). Take advantage of this by pushing your boundaries around what you want recognition around. March 6th places a spotlight directly on Neptune as the sun visits. This will highlight your glamorous and ethereal charms.

Spring: Take advantage of spring's bubbling energy to get things done. The last day of this season on June 21st, Neptune will turn retrograde for the rest of the year. Only a few days earlier on June 16th, the second Neptune Jupiter square will take place. With this timing aligned near Sagittarius' full moon (June 17th), all things career will be very fertile in your life. Push yourself past what you think you are capable of and you WILL surprise yourself.

Summer: During summer, you may come face to face with some of your daemons. Yours is an energy that knows how to spin spells and glamors, creating illusions around what others see. When your planet is in retrograde, the mists that you have access to clear out and the truth of your secrets can come toppling down upon you. Keep this in mind as you charm your way through the first half of the year. The less deceptive you are the less you'll have to face consequences in the summer and autumn.

Autumn: The first day of autumn, at the equinox, you'll be coming off of the final Neptune Jupiter square. Reflect back on the events and challenges this has brought into your life. Although some of it was challenging, recognize how it's pushed you in ways that have strengthened you. Lots of openings and choices put pressure on your shoulders, but by now, you will start to see how this has expanded your life and personal sense of Self in amazing ways. Be open to opportunity and get clear about how big you are willing to make your life.
