Mystically in Season for Aries

0-17 Degrees: Your boundaries are being pushed right now. It's likely that you have had moments of darkest hours over the past year, or even right now, that have pushed you to look up and believe in the grandness of the universe. Mentors, teachers, and guides are your best friend in this phase of growth. Look for some guiding wisdom as you push through the boundaries of your life, broaden your perspectives, and dare to be the designer of your own expansive magnificence. You are nearing the peak of your potential but this requires a better understanding of what the world wants of you and what you can realistically give in alignment with that. Vision is the result, so dare to have one that matches what your soul truly longs for.

17.3-30 Degrees: You are holding strong under immense pressure in this phase of growth. Coming to the summit of a long cycle, this is your moment of glory but also immense worldly responsibility. Integrity is the name of the game right now. Veer even an inch off of the straight and narrow and you'll reap some lashings. All eyes are on you. No mistakes can be made. Wear your responsibilities with the alignment and strength of character that you have built over the past 14-year journey. As you feel the summit of a long journey, you may begin to dream of new paths and new cycles of life. Intentions, goals, and resolutions are being placed in seeds being buried with this phase of pressures. Seeds for a new rebirth to come after a couple more cycles: breaking down to break through. So, what do you dream for yourself in the future? Let these dream fall deep below your surface to find soils over the next several years. For now, uphold your responsibilities with honor, focus, and strength.

June 21 – July 21

This season brings deep vulnerability and sensitivity to the depths of your sense of Self. A quarter moon in your sign is asking that you show up for you, for your passions, and for new conditions to take hold in your life. This is your moment to reach out and claim what you want for you in this phase that is pushing you to be daring in your reach, expansiveness, and position in life. Know that you've put in so much work since around 2005, and right now is the time to accept any recognition of this. Bathe in the knowing that you are the master of your own destiny, and that destiny can hold some of your personal agenda even when the world is asking a lot of you. Make more time and space for you this season in order to get in touch with the spark in your inner core. A spark that is yours to breathe fresh life through. Watch June 24th–26th for the heart of this phase for you.

Oracle Draw for Aries: Being

Because of the interesting concoction of this season for you, where you are simultaneously holding spaciousness and un-anchoring via eclipses in the security axis of your chart, worldly responsibility and pressure via your 19-year phase of growth, but are also finding personal spark and new conditions for Self in your yearly journey, the best thing you can center into is just Being. This allows expectations to soften, for things to come and go as they are supposed to, and for life to organize as it does without much pushing, pulling, and effort on your part. Let life organize around you. It does it beautifully on its own. Stay open, listen to life around you, and through this know that you'll always know in the moment, the right action to take or way to center. Breathe and stay open-minded.
